May Says Mrs. Roosevelt Recommended Schwamm

WASHINGTON, May 22—Ex-Congressman May (D) Ky. testified today that a man he is said to have helped become an Army officer was really recommended for a commission by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The man he referred to was Harvey Schwamm New York who told the May-Garsson conspiracy trial jury earlier that May arranged a conference with Secretary of War Patterson for him in regard to a commission.

May was testifying for the fifth day in his own defense against charges that he received $53,000 in bribes for favors he did war contractors Henry and Murray Garsson while he was house military committee chairman.

MAY TESTIFIED he met Schwamm in Murray Garsson's apartment in a Washington hotel. He said Schwamm told him that "I have been granted a commission by the Army and it is being held up. I would like to see who I could talk to in the war department."

May continued: "I asked him who sponsored his application. He said it was originally taken up by Mrs. Roosevelt and Gen. Watson (Maj. Gen. Edwin C. Watson President Roosevelt's military aide at that time.)

"I asked if they recommended him and he said they did."

May said he then called Patterson and arranged for Schwamm to see him that day.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The department of commerce says that ingredients from 36 countries now go into our hot dogs. The sand in the mustard is native.

But it illustrates clearly that world peace and frankfurts are brothers under the skin.

Let one delegate withdraw from the United Nations and in six weeks time you could taste the difference.

But what a stirring picture it makes—36 nations marching shoulder, pickle in the middle and security on top, one for all and all with mustard.

Anyway, Secretary Marshall says we won't know exactly how spend 400 million dollars in Greece and Turkey until we send people over to find out.

This is a pleasant variation of standard banking practice under which the borrower states his case before he gets the dough.

If individuals conducted their affairs as governments do, luxury commissions would be working double-shifts.

Truman Signs Balkan Aid Bill

PRESIDENT SAYS MEASURE STEP TOWARD PEACE

Chief Executive Declares Plan Offers Proof Of U. S. Cooperation

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 22—President Truman declared today that the $400,000,000 Greco-Turkish aid bill offers concrete evidence to the world that the United States will act to support its pledges to the United Nations.

The chief executive signed the measure supporting the "Truman doctrine" of aiding those nations threatened by communist incursion. The signing took place in the President's hotel suite this morning.

He announced simultaneously that the United States ambassadors to Greece and Turkey have been instructed to open immediate negotiations with those governments to carry out the purposes of the aid measure.

Mr. Truman will announce his choice of an administrator probably tomorrow.

He said that Schwamm reported to him later that he had been told that if he would take off 48 pounds he would be made an Army finance officer. May added:

"He looked as if he could stand taking off 48 pounds."

MAY DENIED earlier testimony that he had told an Army colonel to give the Garssons "a nice big contract."

May said that he had had difficulty with Col. Henry B. Sheets about an inspector general's report he had requested. He said that Sheets was "mad insulting and insolent" during their discussion and added:

"I never said anything to him about giving anyone a contract and I never asked the war department to give anyone a contract throughout the war."

May testified earlier that he intervened with Gen. Eisenhower in the court martial of war contractor Murray Garsson's son only "to see justice done a soldier."

OHIO METHODIST OFFICERS WILL SERVE AGAIN

CINCINNATI, May 22—Officers of the Ohio conference of the Methodist church started new terms of office today following their re-election at the church's annual meeting in Cincinnati.

Those re-elected were Dr. J. Otis Young, Westwood, secretary; Dr. L. L. Roush, Columbus, treasurer, and the Rev. R. C. Hurley, St. Paris, statistician. The delegates also were voting on ministerial delegates to represent the Ohio conference at the church's general conference in Boston next year.

The Rev. Mr. Hurley reported to the meeting that the Ohio conference, the largest in the Methodist church, gained 5,063 additional members last year, bringing its total membership to 289,003. Value of church property increased nearly five million dollars to $30,984,415.

MRS. TRUMAN CONTINUES GAIN IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 22—President Truman's 94-year-old mother continued to gain today in her uphill battle against the ravages of illness and age.

Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, the President's personal physician, reported the brave little lady was "progressing nicely" in his morning bulletin.

The statement was issued at 11:30 a. m. (EST) through the president's press secretary, Charles G. Ross.

Clark Says Youth Can Defeat Reds

CLEVELAND, May 22—U. S. Attorney General Tom C. Clark maintained today that the surest antidote to Communism and Fascism is "programs of youth by youth and for youth."

The attorney general in addressing the final meeting of the National Catholic welfare conference youth division last night in Cleveland asserted that the American Youth for Democracy was a Communist front controlled by the young Communist league. He added:

"But American youth for democracy made no inroads in any church-sponsored school Catholic or otherwise."

"The AYD dared not attempt to enter those colleges where truly positive American programs of dynamic action were sponsored by American youth."

"But where programs offer no hope of solving the individual youth problem but serve only as frothy time-killers it is not surprising that some youth turned to those false prophets."

Clark called for closer allegiance between parents and children and charged that "to a certain extent we have lost our leadership, understanding and contact of our children."

RUSSIA FACES DEFEAT IN UN

Soviet Proposal Restricting Inspection Group To Be Voted Down

By International News Service Soviet Russia faced defeat in the United Nations security council today on the Greek border dispute.

The eleven-nation group is due to arrive at a ruling during the day on the validity of its own inspection group now stationed in Salonika.

The decision will come in the form of a vote on the four-point proposal submitted by Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko. Its main design is to strip the group of its powers to function and shift its headquarters to Athens.

With the United States, Britain, China, Brazil and Australia already committed by their own declarations to oppose the Soviet proposal, the defeat of the Soviet move is certain.

IZVESTIA, organ of the Soviet government, published a two-thirds of a page comment on the speech of British Foreign Secretary Bevin before the house of commons last Thursday.

The commentary was captioned: "report does not correspond to reality."

The newspaper charged Bevin with presenting all events as reflected "in a crooked mirror."

In his own country, meanwhile, Bevin faced a leftwing attack at the labor party's annual conference at Margate Monday as a result of a party pamphlet (Continued on Page Two)

The trial had been set to begin March 24 but was postponed until May 26.

OHIO OFFICIALS TOLD TO REDUCE FUND REQUESTS

House Members Oppose Any But 'Must' Building; TB Bill Approved

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—State departments were told in effect by the house finance committee to cut their requests for post-war improvements by at least one-third or "force" the committee to make their cuts for them.

The committee held its first hearing on Governor Herbert's $1½ million dollar additions and betterments bill with the members obviously backing Chairman Paul Ballard's stand that the additional appropriations would have to be cut to within the 54 millions available to guarantee a balanced budget.

As the bill now stands the highway department is asking about 35 millions and the welfare department and the six state universities asking about 19½ millions each.

BALLARD RENEWED his stand that he would seek to freeze all expenditures except those actually in the emergency category or those items already under contract. He made it clear that he meant the unexpended $8 millions left from the 79 million dollar bill of two years ago as well as the additional items on the new bill.

"Now is not the time to build" Ballard repeated as his theme. "Building costs are up 100 per cent over two years ago. We should not compete for building materials and labor with people who want to build homes."

"I would stop this public building in its tracks."

Ballard also warned the senate which now is considering the $85 million dollar general appropriations bill to "go easy" on adding any additional funds to that measure.

DE SEVERSKY IN BLAST ON U. S. DEFENSE PLANS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 22—Another major war would find America hog-tied strategically under present defense planning, Major Alexander P. de Seversky believes today.

In Montgomery to address the students of the air war college at Maxwell field, the author of "Victory Through Air Power" and famous consulting aviation engineer, warned that America is not putting first things first.

The major pointed to the expenditure of 40 per cent of the defense budget on the Navy as pure waste. He said:

"We won the last war despite the fact that we broke the greatest principle of war by trying to be strong everywhere, building the strongest Army, Navy and Air Force."

"But we were victorious because our enemies were limited in their natural resources, manpower and intellect."

"In the future, we may fight a nation exceeding us in natural resources and in manpower. In that case, most important things would have to come first."

"The Eurasian continent (Europe and Asia) is a self-contained continent. It cannot be blockaded and is therefore immune to blockade and naval action."

BANKERS TOLD RECESSION ON

'Soft Goods' Already Hit By Slackening Business, Professor States

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Ohio's bankers were told today that a business recession already has begun, but that its severity depends upon the problem of adjusting prices and demands.

Raymond Rogers, professor of banking at New York University, declared in an address at the 56th convention of the Ohio Bankers association in Columbus that the recession so far had hit primarily what he described as "soft goods," such as women's apparel, cosmetics, shoes, beverages, frozen foods and jewelry. He said:

"The recession is not yet fully apparent because business activity is still at a very high level. However, some soft goods industries have begun to feel the slackening demand and unemployment there is gradually increasing. It is encouraging to note that when retailers do put high quality goods on their counters with right prices, the merchandise is sold without difficulty. So demand exists, but at a price."

"Prices have outrun purchasing power and have to go down. The question is whether they (Continued on Page Two)

Death For 'Incurables' Is Proposed

LONDON, May 22—An 85-year-old British physician sought today to legalize the "right to die" of persons suffering great pain from an incurable disease by confessing:

"I am not ashamed to say I have taken the life of a patient."

Dr. Edwin Alfred Barton made his disclosure during an address before the annual meeting of the Voluntary Euthanasia Society.

He announced that plans have been made to reintroduce the society's bill for the legalization of euthanasia (the act of inducing death painlessly or as a relief from pain) into the house of lords.

The bill was before the house of lords in 1936 but was not given a second reading.

Dr. Percy Groves, chairman of the society, said promises of support for the bill have been received from a number of members of the house of lords.

BYRD SAYS GOP PLANS FAILING

Democrat Senator Warns Expenditures Could Exceed Budget

WASHINGTON, May 22—Sen. Byrd (D) Va., demanded postponement of action on the GOP tax reduction bill today and warned that the Republican congress may end up without saving a dime on President Truman's budget because of new commitments.

Byrd opened the second day of debate on the four billion dollar tax relief bill as the senate agreed to vote Monday at 4 p. m. on a Democratic motion to postpone action until June 10.

Byrd's speech developed sharp debate over failure of GOP-controlled house - senate conferees to agree upon a compromise cut in the 37 and one half billion dollar budget.

MINORITY Leader Barkley (D) Ky., said that unless the conference headed by Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., reached prompt agreement it should be "discharged" and new conferees appointed.

Byrd said he could not support the tax reductions on what he regards as the utterly fallacious theory that the "present inflated revenues will continue."

He gave the "optimistic pre- (Continued on Page Two)

POSSIBILITY OF SEVERE CROP LOSSES GROWS

Wheat Damaged, Corn Still Not Planted; River Out Of Banks Again

Three words were aptly used Thursday to describe the conditions menacing Pickaway county's farm crops. The words are "too much rain."

Hampered by excessive rainfall, by flood waters of swollen streams, unseasonal frosts, and tornadic winds, the tillers of the soil and the owners of fruit orchards on the 2,085 farms in Pickaway county which comprise 253,762 tillable acres Thursday faced severe losses unless weather conditions improve.

Many farmers scanned the horizon, cheered by the beaming sun and rising temperature Thursday, and hoped for continued "fair and warmer". However, the official weather forecast said clouds will gather Thursday night and that Friday will be "mostly cloudy followed by showers" and the Scioto river was flowing over its banks again.

Thus the prospect appeared slim for relief from the record-breaking rainfall during April and thus far in May.

PLOWING OF fields and the planting of crops in Pickaway county are far behind schedule. Farmers who already have lost their oats crops now face further losses in wheat and corn. However, Dewey Downs of the AAA office in Circleville was inclined to minimize the seriousness of the situation resulting from the over-saturated fields.

Although a lot of farmers plant their corn by May 10 and have thus far been unable to follow such a schedule, Downs asserted that the corn should not be planted before May 20 because of the corn borer danger. He added that June 1 is the deadline for corn planting and whether field conditions will permit corn planting before June 1 in Pickaway county is now a matter of conjecture with the outlook none too bright.

DOWNS SAID that serious damage already has been caused to the wheat crop in the county. He said the total acre in the county is 310,488. A (Continued on Page Two)

$10,300 TAKEN FROM TOLEDO POST OFFICE

TOLEDO, O., May 22—The West Toledo branch of the U. S. post office was burglarized early today, with an estimated $10,300 in stamps, government notes and cash stolen.

The burglary was discovered by a post office clerk, Henry Gromek, when he opened the office for the day's business.

Police said the burglars gained entrance to the building by sliding down a coal chute. They ripped a hole in the post office safe with a crowbar.

Tear gas mechanism attached to the safe failed to go off, police reported.

In addition to the loot taken from the safe, the intruders ransacked the office and tore open a large quantity of registered mail in their search for money.

KENTUCKIAN TO BE NEW PHILIPPINE AMBASSADOR

KANSAS CITY, MO., May 22—President Truman will name Emmett O'Neal, Kentucky, as ambassador to the Philippine republic.

The nomination will go to the senate probably tomorrow. O'Neal is a former Democratic congressman from Kentucky.

The President announced his decision this morning through Press Secretary Charles G. Ross. O'Neal will succeed Paul V. McNutt as ambassador to the Philippines.

POSSIBILITY OF SEVERE CROP LOSSES GROWS

hot spell without rainfall, for any considerable period of time, Downs explained, would "crack" the wheat.

The farmers wrote off their oats crops weeks ago because of too much rain and too much cold.

With only about 30 per cent of the plowing done at this time the weather during the next 30 days will likely determine the "fate" of the county's 1947 corn crop. The final "safe" date to have corn in the ground is June 15.

The problem of getting enough labor to do the job in the event Pickaway county is visited by a hot spell of sufficient length to permit planting is another puzzle the harassed agriculturists will have to solve.

With farm wages skyrocketing those farm families which do not have several "farmhand-sons" to help out will be hard-pressed to gain enough labor to get the crops in the ground.

PICKAWAY COUNTY had a record rainfall of 7.54 inches in April. The record-breaking precipitation thus far in May, up until Thursday morning, totaled 3.48 inches. The April precipitation was the heaviest for a number of years. Charles Carter, Circleville weather observer who did the measuring, said that approximately six inches of rain fell in May, 1943, and that the figure may be exceeded in May, 1947.

The Scioto river stage at 8 a. m. Thursday was 11.55 feet, a rise of almost 4 and 1/2 feet during the preceding 24 hours. Carter predicted the level would reach 13 1/2 feet before it begins to recede — barring more heavy rainfall.

Lowlands along the Scioto have been partly inundated on four occasions during the past several weeks and hundreds of acres were partly under water Thursday.

Growing fruit and berries, although damaged by two severe frosts early in May have thus far escaped.

THE CANNING industry in the Circleville district is being seriously affected in the canning of early crops.

Officials of canning companies said Thursday that only about 50 per cent of the normal pea crop was sown and that it is now too late to sow peas. This undoubtedly will make the crop critically short.

They said that there is an even worse outlook in the canning prospects for sweet corn, adding that whereas 50 per cent of the sweet corn should now be in the ground there actually is only about 5 per cent.

Canners' officials joined in pronouncing the situation "very bad."

Similar conditions sorely hindering crop production prevail throughout many sections of Ohio and the U. S. Weather Bureau at Columbus in a bulletin issued Thursday emphasized the seriousness of the prolonged rains. At the same time Ohio State University agronomists indicated that not more than one-third of Ohio's corn ground has been plowed and very little of it has been planted.

The crop report of OSU experts aptly summarized the situation by quoting a farmer who declared: "Too much rain—even for wheat and grass."

WASHINGTON, May 22—Rep. McDowell (R) Pa., un-American activities committee member, recommended today that the U. S. border patrol be given Army pursuit planes to halt smuggling of Communist agents into the United States from Mexico.

PARIS, May 22—Bakers were attacked in bread riots in northern France today coincident with a warning by Premier Paul Ramadier that further demonstrations against government economic controls will bring arrest and severe punishment.

SECOND WIFE OF MICKEY ROONEY SUES FILM STAR

HOLLYWOOD, May 22—Betty Jane Rooney, second wife of screen star Mickey Rooney, today left it up to the courts to decide how much money she should receive for support of herself and their two children.

She declared in a suit for separate maintenance the actor "fraudulently" induced her to sign a $15,000-a-year property settlement which, Rooney said, represented nearly half his income.

Mrs. Rooney, who was "Miss Birmingham of 1944," said Rooney misrepresented his annual income. She charged the star is worth $350,000 per year, and not $36,000 as he asserted last January.

Mickey earns $250,000 a year at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and realizes an additional $100,000 from an enterprise known as "Mickey Rooney Inc.," the actor's wife stated in her suit.

Rooney married the beauty prize winner in September, 1944, when the actor was stationed at an Army camp near Birmingham. Their first child, Mickey Jr., is now 22 months old.

will be put down voluntarily or forced down by recession.

"In fact, the severity of the recession will be determined by the ease or difficulty of price adjustment.

"If labor will go to work, if management will start cutting costs instead of devising excuses for putting prices higher, and if government will cut costs and increase purchasing power by balancing the budget and reducing taxes, then this recession should be little more than a momentary hesitation. We still have the choice of the kind of recession, but time is running out on us."

When Ed's Crops Failed

Three years ago Ed Smith's luck went bad. His crops failed, and it wasn't long before Ed's home and furnishings were up for auction.

Half the town turned out, and Ed must have thought his neighbors were a bunch of hungry vultures—buying up all his precious possessions for a song.

When it was over, and the auctioneer had left, Sam Abernathy turns to the crowd and says: "All right, folks, let's take time out for a glass of beer, and then put this stuff back where it belongs!"

FIVE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH NEAR DAYTON

DAYTON, O., May 22—A C-97 Army plane crashed two miles from nearby Wright Field today, killing five men and seriously injuring two others.

A witness to the crash said the plane's left wing was tipping just before the crash. The plane plowed into a small hillside and burned.

The witness to the crash said two airmen parachuted from the plane but it was believed these were the two seriously injured.

Wright Field officials said the two injured were thrown clear of the wreckage, but other officials indicated the injured might have been two who attempted to parachute at too low an altitude.

shaping up as the senate taxation committee in a conference with Governor Herbert agreed to go along with the three major bills passed by the house. The other two bills in the over-all plan were subjected to floor action.

"The house passed 125-0 a bill providing a 3 1/2 million dollar subsidy to the counties for the next 18 months for tuberculosis care and the senate completed action on a house-approved measure refunding to the local governments the one-half-million-dollar share of the cigarette dealers' license fees now retained by the state. The senate vote was 31-0.

The tuberculosis fund would be distributed at the rate of $2.50 per patient-day for patients in public hospitals and $1.25 for patients in private hospitals. Rep. Arthur Fiske (R-Cuyahoga) author of the bill said that the state's economic loss because of the disease was some 50 million dollars a year.

A bill to provide for slum clearance was killed when the house taxation committee voted to indefinitely postpone further action on the measure.

LABOR TOOK A licking from the house industrial relations committee, which recommended for passage one bill drastically limiting union practices and a proposed constitutional amendment to ban the closed shop in Ohio.

The house passed, 90-21, a bill authorizing police to take blood tests of motorists accused of driving while intoxicated. It also completed passage, 125-0, of a senate-approved bill requiring co-ops to pay the same franchise and incorporation fees assessed against private corporations.

A bill authorizing the state education director to devise a plan for the consolidation of school districts to not more than four rural districts in a county was approved, 22-9, by the senate.

A fight appeared to be looming over the proposal to increase the pay of state highway patrolmen. The bill has been recommended for passage but stymied in the rules committee because of the opposition of one member. Unanimous action on the part of the rules committee is required to place a bill on the calendar.

FOREMEN STRIKE MAY CLOSE FORD PLANTS IN WEEK

DETROIT, May 22—The Ford Motor company conceded today that the strike of 3,800 foremen in three Detroit plants probably will choke off vehicle production nationally within a week.

The Foreman's Association of America, which called the strike in support of demands for exclusive bargaining rights for Ford supervisory employees as well as a contract, predicted that assembly lines will grind to a halt within four days.

The strike began at 10 a. m. yesterday and the foremen promptly set up picket lines around the plants involved at River Rouge, Highland Park and Lincoln Mercury.

CIO-UAW production workers were not barred, and they crossed the lines with authorization of their union.

dition" that Republican cuts in President Truman's budget will not exceed two billion dollars, and that from this must be taken the 400 million voted for Greece and Turkey. He added:

"It is even possible and not impossible that without more rigid economy, our total expenditures for all purposes, domestic and foreign, in fiscal 1948, may equal or exceed 37 and one-half billion dollar expenditures estimated in the President's budget."

Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., senate finance chairman, said he was confident the congress would slash four and one-half billions from the budget, the senate estimate. Byrd said he was sorry but he couldn't share Millikin's optimism.

SEN. CAPPER LIKES TREND TO FEWER FARMS

Kansas Solon States Most
Of U. S. Farms Are
Family Enterprises

TOPEKA, KANSAS — The trend toward fewer farms in the United States, with a larger acreage per individual farm is not bad for agriculture, because 98 per cent of our nearly 6 million farms are family enterprises, es, according to Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas.

Family operated farms produce nearly 80 per cent of all farm products that are sold, as well as the food farmers eat, he writes.

"The number of farms has decreased from 6,096,799 in 1940 to 5,853,169 in 1945," he says. "This was a drop of 237,630. In that five years the average size farm went up from 174 to almost 196 acres."

Discussing how a family can work a bigger acreage these days, he adds:

"A family can operate more land because of power tools today. Each person can do more work, more efficiently and faster. New methods of crop and live-stock production, improved crop varieties, better animals, more favorable credit facilities, better transportation—all these help make it possible for a family to handle more land and enjoy a larger income."

Emphasizing that the family farm is the "spiritual citadel of democracy", Senator Capper says that such farms must be preserved and made secure. Family operators love freedom so much that they will fight to keep it. On family farms the American way of life is strongly entrenched.

Senator Capper recommends the following sixpoint program to safeguard the future of the family farm: 1-Encourage ownership; 2-Better the conditions of tenancy; 3-Persuade farmers to adopt a balanced farming system;

4-Continue and increase the valuable research work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the land grant colleges; 5-Promote greater mechanization of all farm labor; 6-Extend rural electrification.

IDLE RUSSIAN MEN AND WOMEN EAT SPARINGLY

Ration Of Almost Nothing
Granted; Clerks Forced
Into Factories

BY KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager,
International News Service

PARIS, May 22—Three boxes of matches and 400 grams of salt per month is all the Soviet ration system allows an able-bodied man or woman who dares to waste time by unemployment in Russia today.

No food rations are granted to any unemployed person over 18 years of age, unless such persons are ill, physically disabled, or the man is over 60 years old and the woman over 55.

If the unemployed person happens to have money saved up, he or she can purchase food on the so-called free market, but there sugar costs nearly $2 a pound and other commodities are similarly high priced.

PRIOR TO October last year, an unemployed person could receive a dependent's card, known as I-4. This entitled the holder to the following quantities of ration-store food per month:

Bread, 250 grams, grits, 1000 grams; meat and fish, 600 grams; fats 200 grams; sugar, 400 grams, salt, 400 grams; tea, 25 grams.

When the government started last fall a series of measures to reduce the nation's food consumption, the unemployed were the hardest hit. They were given a new "special dependents" card, known as IT-4. This is equivalent to almost nothing at all. In November it allowed the holder to purchase one kilo of grits, 400 grams of sugar, 400 grams of salt and three boxes of matches per month. In December, the sugar was completely eliminated, leaving only the grits, salt and matches. In January, the grits were eliminated.

The Soviet press asserts there is no unemployment in Russia today. The official policy of the government is to ignore it. Actually, there is a certain amount of unemployment in the big cities, especially Moscow, at the present time as a result of drastic measures taken this winter to reduce clerical and administrative staffs in all institutions and enterprises.

THERE HAVE been rumors current in Moscow, with some factual basis, that most institutions in the Soviet capital were ordered to reduce their staffs and white collar employees by 30 per cent, to freeze payrolls, abolish all vacancies and hire no additional personnel.

The purpose of this intensive economy campaign is believed by diplomatic observers to be aimed at inducing or forcing white collar and auxiliary employees into factories and workshops as part of the five year plan to rush the reconstruction and industrialization of the nation.

The unemployment that exists at present is due primarily to the reluctance of many clerical workers who have lost their jobs in consequence of the economy program to accept unskilled manual labor which is offered to them in the factories.

As long as their savings hold out, they can live off the free market, but eventually they are likely to be forced to become factory workers. And once they are classified as factory workers, or any other kind, they must have official permission before the classification can be changed.

You cannot hop freely from one type of work to another in Russia today. That is not the Soviet conception of democracy.

Atomic Ray Detector Unveiled At Opening Of Mid-American Exposition

CLEVELAND, May 22 — An "atomic ray detector" that can count particles cast off by exploding atoms at the rate of 100,000 each second—50 times more than the standard Geiger counter can record—was unveiled today at the Mid-American Exposition in Cleveland.

The new detector, developed by Dr. Fitz-Hugh Marshall and Dr. John W. Colman of the Westinghouse research laboratories in Pittsburgh, vied with the world's first peacetime atomic energy exhibit for spectator interest as the 10-day show opened.

Sen. Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, pressed a button in the Empire state building in New York at 2 p. m. EST, to open the show officially.

Nearly 150 exhibits have been set up over seven acres of space in the public auditorium and the underground hall for the second annual Mid-American exposition, and scientific notables as a feature sidelight of the opening day.

Dr. Dunning created the atom-splitting machine on display at the exposition where visitors will get a visual demonstration of the actual fission resulting from a neutron bombardment of uranium coated Geiger tube.

Rear Admiral A. Ofstie, member of the military liaison committee to the U. S. atomic energy commission, will speak on "postwar atomic energy" at a dinner tonight highlighting "maritime day" at the exposition.

BOY KILLED AS TWISTER HURLS REFUGE 100 FEET

READING, Pa., May 22 — A freakish "twister" was responsible today for the death of a 13-year-old boy when a building in which he had taken refuge was hurled 100 feet.

The boy, Paul D. Kline, and his younger brother, Daniel, 10, went into the building, a frame structure on their father's farm, when a heavy rainstorm swept the area.

Daniel was carried into the air with his older brother but escaped with minor injuries when he was thrown clear of the structure as it began to fall.

GETTING RICH QUICK

THE SOMETHING for nothing spirit never dies. One sign is the revival of the old "Spanish prisoner" swindle. This starts with the receipt of a letter purporting to be from a prisoner in a Spanish jail, who has a large sum of money which his imprisonment prevents him from securing. Anyone who will send him the wherewithal to get out of jail can have this sum, which is much larger than the necessary investment. Needless to say, when any money is sent in response to this plea, nothing further is ever heard of money or applicant. The latest version of this hoary fraud transfers the scene of imprisonment to Mexico, but the principle remains the same.

Another recent example of this romantic idea of getting rich quickly is seen in the widespread rumor that a new car will be given away to anyone presenting a 1943 copper penny. This seems preposterous on the face of it. The catch is that to conserve valuable metal, no pennies of copper were coined in 1943, zinc being used instead.

People hoping to get rich by such easy methods should start digging up their back yards. They might find a gold mine there. The odds are no more against it than they are against getting wealth out of a Spanish prison or a new car for one cent.

WHICH KIND OF LIFE?

FROM experiments with rats at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., dieticians have decided that a diet can be followed which reduces degenerative diseases like cancer and thereby increases the life span. At least it worked that way with the rats. But here's the rub. Those long-lived rats developed dental troubles, whereas their brothers who ate anything had good teeth, but a shorter life span.

It's hard to get ahead of Old Lady Nature. She seems to have slyly stacked the cards against mankind. If she is generous along one line, she takes something else away. At least with those Cornell rats, could they have decided, the choice would have been for a toothless, food-restricted old age, or for good bicuspid, good eating and a short life.

A lot of people are still complaining about this year's weather, but there are now places where you can hardly see any snow at all.

British women are campaigning to have old age pensions begin at 55 instead of 60. Breathes there the woman who will admit to being 55?

"This world was once a fluid haze of light," wrote the poet Tennyson, but now it's fluorescent and works better.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:
Rain. Rain. RAIN. Farmers learning to cuss in a nautical manner. Wondering when a truly modern manufacturer will turn out amphibian farm implements. Not that the land gears could be used much in Ohio this Spring. Chickens even taking up quacking. And motorists no more wasting the energy to turn off their windshield wipers.

So surprised I almost stopped for a hitch hiker. There he stood in broad daylight and dressed in a Tuxedo. Up near Ashville a farmer found a two-headed pig in a litter. Health good, too, for the two days it lived before the farmer killed it. And threw away several hundred dollars, probably. A real freak.

Looked in on the "granny" of George's herd and found her mighty proud of twin calves born during the night. Helped teach the little bull to move up to the lunch counter. High falutin animal parked in the corner of the stall and insisted that his food be brought to him. The girl much smarter. She knew where the food was and how to get it. Also inspected that cement-eating bull and found him somewhat improved with his temperature only 103 after having been up to 108. He was dead and didn't know it. Now, may live.

Noted the last of the boulevard light poles going up at Court and Main and stopped there to pass the time of day with Harry Hill and Carl Seitz. Chatted with Bill Murry, the retired plumber, who saved more money than he ever will be able to spend, but who did it mostly because he liked to work.

There goes Ed Wallace who probably works harder than any man of his years in the village. Never knows when to stop. Often think of one fishing trip with him up Michigan way and wonder when he will knock off for another vacation.

Met A. W. Bosworth and asked how things were going on the farm. Said his "hand" was teaching his son how to play cards when he headed for town. All the inside work done and very little of the outside work. Not so many years since the so-called "rain makers" were getting great publicity. How we could use a "rain stopper!"

To Cecil Noecker: If you don't stop in and pick up those railroad magazines right soon they are going into the paper baler. If the sun ever starts shining you will not have time to read them.

About the village briefly in the afternoon and still far from impressed with the wisdom of the Wednesday afternoon closing. But it must be wise, so many merchants lock their doors.

Tipped the news department that the old Groce packing plant has changed hands again and soon is to be occupied by an industry employing about 30 men and women. Bottled salads, I understand. Also learned that another factory site soon may be available in the village. Know of one good outfit that already is interested in the town. So, something may come of that.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 22 — The Republicans do not show it publicly yet, but certain of their congressional directors have become unduly scrupulous about pushing the tax reduction. Fiscal overseer John Taber, appropriations chairman of the house, has been working privately for more than a week on a scheme to hold the reduction bill in conference for several weeks after it passes the senate in order to see what happens statistically. Quite quietly he explored such a possibility on the senate side (meaning with Taft) and indirectly even with Treasury Undersecretary Wiggins. He found a situation which indicated this might be done although it had never been done before. Indeed this was the basic inside Republican strategy behind the Taft decision to push the bill up currently in the senate and to pass it promptly.

The Democrats must have scented what was afoot. They came forward immediately with their public program to delay senate consideration until June 10. By that time, they said, they would know how much the Republicans can cut from the Truman budget (actually they knew the Republicans would fall short on economies and thus expected they would embarrass or prevent the tax reduction by June 10.)

This is all rather clear political jockeying. The tax reduction would not be effective until next year (fiscal beginning July 1) and no one has a convincing idea of how much business will earn and pay in taxes, or how much national income or federal revenue will turn out to be more than 13 months hence.

Most Republican congressmen believe that as they promised a tax reduction they should enact one; their proposed average cut of one-fifth is mild; this will stimulate business which is uncertainly working its way through a period of dislocation; that the first quarter earnings reports indicate business will be much better and therefore will pay more taxes than supposed. Half-realistically the Democrats are trying to stall the Republicans by cooking up fearful reasons why the taxpayers should continue to pay terrific wartime rates, and let them spend the proceeds.

The Republicans would laugh off this challenge to their basic fiscal program were it not for one point. Actually—doubt this at your own peril—many Republican leaders privately suspect there may be such a depression as the old anti-Truman leftwing Democrats have been trying to advertise. Prices have already run so high as to encounter buyer resistance. Forecasts for the last half of this year and the first part of next do not by any means confirm that first quarter earnings will continue. (See the stock market figures which have tended downward toward new lows despite the earnings statements simultaneously being made public.)

The issue, therefore, is no longer clear cut. The Democrats have a thoroughly mixed statistical-estimating game going on in congress, causing many Republican leaders to worry, no matter what they may say publicly. This is the basic, accurate objective inside on the peculiar situation, the reason behind the queer developments.

A Painful Condition That The New Mother May Develop

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WE can realize our debt to penicillin only when we understand the great changes it has made in the treatment of many ailments, giving us a quick and reliable cure in place of treatments which were slow, painful and often uncertain. For instance, a new mother sometimes develops a condition known as acute mastitis or inflammation of the breast.

A Painful Condition

This is a most painful condition, making the breast red, tender and swollen. Fever—often high fever—adds to the mother's distress. Before the use of penicillin, there was nothing to be done but to wait for the infection to come to a head. This was encouraged by the use of heat. Then the breast was cut open and the infected material drained out. Since penicillin attacks the staphylococcus germs which usually cause this disorder, these things are no longer necessary.

Injections Given

Drs. Mary D. Taylor and Stanley Way of England used penicillin in treating 10 patients with acute mastitis. The penicillin was given by injection into a muscle every three hours. In addition to overcoming the infection, it is also necessary in the treatment to keep the breasts empty. They did this in most cases by allowing the baby to nurse. If the baby's nursing caused too much discomfort to the mother, they discontinued the nursing and gave a small dose of stilbestrol, a preparation which helps to decrease the breast milk supply for the time being. Breast feeding was continued in all cases except one, however, and in this case it was stopped only because the baby did not accompany her mother to the hospital.

Result of Treatment

As a result of this treatment all of the patients were cured within seven days and six of the ten within three days. In only one instance did pus formation develop and even in this case it was not necessary to cut open the breast. However, the infected material was drawn out using a needle and hypodermic syringe.

It would appear, then, that treatment of acute mastitis or breast infection with penicillin is easily carried out and brings about a prompt cure in practically all cases. Of course the earlier treatment is started and the more thoroughly it is employed, the better will be the results.

CHAPTER TWENTY

"MOVIE?" queried Mrs. Winston, alertly. "You've gone into the movies, Diane?"

"Only in an amateur way," Mrs. Arden explained. "With some of her friends out at the Old Colony."

"But we're getting very professional," Diane added. "Rufus Kent has the lead."

"Rufus Kent," echoed Mrs. Winston sharply. "Yes, Bill's college friend. You know, the one who came here to go on the Post, who writes those editorials. He's terribly clever and simply marvelous in our movie. I should know! He plays the part of my lover and—well, he's convincingly fatal!"

Without looking at him, she knew Bill's eyes were hard on her. "Yes, this is what I've been doing while you've been working on your trial!" She looked at Page but Page was fastening the clasp of a bracelet; her bent face revealed nothing.

"How very original! An amateur movie, I mean," said Allitha Matthews. "Where will you show it, Diane?"

"Danny Carver's giving a party down on Gus Schultz' showboat. We'll run it off then."

"You don't mean you go—?" Satisfaction was in Mrs. Winston's voice as well as horror.

"Oh, we're wild to see the inside of it! And meet Gus!"

"Shall we play some bridge? Bill, you and I will take on the girls."

Bill put up the tables. "One rubber, Mother," he said, as he sat down opposite his mother.

"Of course, you're tired."

Was her sympathy only for his tiredness, Diane wondered, uneasily. For her defiance had spent itself; her anger had left her. She played stupidly, scarcely hearing Page's bids, reluctant to meet Page's glance, acutely aware of a soberness in Bill's manner that was not for the game. She was glad when the rubber was over, she rose as quickly as Bill from the table.

There was another round of congratulatory hand shaking with the goodbys. Then they were in the car and driving away. Diane sat back in her corner, holding her breath, waiting for Bill to speak. Then she could say: "I'm sorry! I know I was silly and cheap!"

Cheap, like Vicky. And she'd despised Vicky for it. "Something just sent me off, darling. It doesn't matter what—"

When his arms were around her she would tell him about the baby.

But they were almost at the Chatham Arms before Bill spoke. And then could: "How many cocktails did you drink before dinner?"

Her voice was as cold. "You saw me!"

"I saw only the one you brought to the living room!"

He stopped the car at their door. "You go on up. I'll take the car 'round."

She was undressing when he came in. Frightened, she dropped down on the edge of the bed, clutching the garment she had taken off. What would she say next? She didn't know.

He said from the living room: "Coming out here again?"

"No."

She heard the click of the wall switch, his step across the dinette. He was in the room.

She stood up, desperately willing her knees not to double under her. "I'm sorry, Bill. But she couldn't not say it while there was that closed look on Bill's face."

He pulled off his coat, took it to the closet, hung it there, turned. "Di, I take it you're going out to the club on your father's membership?"

Incredibly, that was in his mind, not Rufus!

"Family membership, isn't it?" "Not mine. I'd prefer you stayed away until I can afford to join it. You can find other amusements, can't you?"

She picked up a brush from the dressing table, drew it over her bright hair. "Why haven't you spoken of it before?"

"Because I was too deep in that trial to even know what you were doing," Bill retorted.

She had set the trap for him, but she was no less stung by his admission. She sat quite still, her fingers tight on the edge of the dressing table, repeating his words to herself, as if, together, they made something she must remember.

He came to her, put his hands on her shoulders. "Don't look like that, Di. I'm not asking a great deal of you, am I? You can't care much for that crowd you've been playing around with out there. To me they seem a fearful waste of time."

She did not answer. She let him think that that was the issue and that it was closed now. She tipped her face back to receive his kiss. But her lips felt stiff against his; the coldness was creeping up over her again.

Bill got into his pajamas. "I'm half asleep on my feet! But it's good to know I haven't a hard day ahead of me tomorrow."

He fell asleep almost as soon as his head touched the pillow. Diane listened in a numb wonder to his regular breathing. After a little she raised on her elbow to stare, almost fearfully, at his dark head, outlined against the white of the bed linen. "I'm going to have his child and I don't really know him!"

"Are you too sleepy for a little talk, dear?" asked Mrs. Winston of Page when they arrived home from the Ardens.

Page shrank from it; she was too distraught in her mind to counter the triumph she saw in her mother's bearing. But to refuse would only postpone the moment, so she followed her mother into the living room.

Mrs. Winston put her gloves and bag on the table, sat down in a chair, a little forward in it, squared her plump shoulders. "Did you ever see such an exhibition as Diane made of herself tonight? I felt so sorry for Bill's mother. Though it ought to be for Bill, he has to live with her! Her boldness, in practically announcing before Bill and everyone, that she's starting an affair with that Rufus Kent!"

Diane had given Mrs. Winston a high trump, and she played it with satisfaction.

Page dropped her eyes to her tightly locked hands. She did not believe there was anything like that between Rufus and Diane, in spite of what Diane had said. Diane had wanted, for some reason of her own, to shock them there at the table, or hurt Bill. And Rufus wasn't, or hurt Bill. It would be loyal to deny it right at the moment she longed, desperately, to give Rufus, at least, loyalty. But she did not speak.

Her mother read an advantage in her silence. She went on in a voice silky with approval. "I am very grateful, Page, that you haven't permitted him to pay you serious attention! He's quite impossible! I knew it the first time I met him and now it's proven by what Diane admitted." She hesitated a moment, then finished: "Because Bill made a mistake is no reason you should—"

"Mother!" Page cried, chokingly, her face flaming.

Mrs. Winston moved to where Page sat on the divan, put her arm over the girl's shoulder. "Don't you think I know how you feel about Bill? Even before you did. It's like that with mothers. I was so happy about it, I thought—"

"And when I knew it couldn't be, my heart ached for my sweet girl. I prayed for you, dear child, that you'd keep your head. And you have. Any other girl would have encouraged the first man she met! I suppose that is why I worried when that Kent man began coming here so often. Though I might have known you'd see yourself that he is quite beneath you! I talked to him one evening, Page, when he was waiting for you to come downstairs. I asked him about his family. The most he can claim is a couple living on a farm somewhere in Massachusetts, an aunt and uncle. Ordinary farmers, he made quite definite. He grew up with them. But he may have told you—it struck me he was a little boastful of the fact!"

Page drew away from her mother's hold. "Yes, he's told me. You didn't need to ask him!"

"Your father and I certainly have the right to know, Page, with what sort of men you are going out!"

Page got to her feet, looked wildly toward the door. "I'm frightfully tired, Mother."

Mrs. Winston rose, too, kissed Page's cheek. "Yes, you're tired. Run along to bed, dear."

28 White Men Acquitted Of Charges They Lynched South Carolina Negro

GREENVILLE S. C., May 22 — Twenty-eight white men were free today of charges that they lynched 24-year-old Willie Earle, a Negro, near Greenville last Feb. 17.

Ninety-eight separate verdicts acquitting them were returned last night by an all-white, all-male jury.

There was no demonstration in the crowded courtroom as jury foreman Hugh Anderson began reading the verdicts.

Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr., had ordered that there be no vocal outburst when the decisions were announced, and he had directed 16 sheriff's deputies "to scatter all over this courtroom."

All 28 of the accused were acquitted on charges of being accessories before the fact, and conspiracy to murder.

Twenty-one of them were found innocent of charges of murder and being accessories after the fact.

Judge Martin instructed the jurors that they could not "under your oaths allow any so-called racial issues to enter into your deliberations."

The jury was composed of eight textile workers, one farmer, one ministerial student and two salesmen. Judge Martin had no comment on their verdicts.

The defendants were on trial nine days. The courtroom was jammed by spectators for each session. The balcony was crowded by Negroes until last night. When the verdicts were read only 13 Negroes were seen in the room.

Earle was being held in the Pickens county jail in connection with the slaying of a white taxi-driver when a mob took him from his cell at gun point and beat, stabbed and shot him to death.

GIANTS BACK IN EAST, SEEK LEAGUE LEAD

Chicago Takes First When Rain Washes Out Play At Cincinnati

NEW YORK, May 22—Having discovered the one thing able to stop them in the west, yesterday's rain in Cincinnati, the suddenly pennant-conscious Giants were back on the Atlantic seaboard today to face a fresh challenge.

It will come from the third-place Boston Braves in a four-game series, beginning tomorrow and ending with a Sunday double-header.

The Giants were a confident lot en route to Boston. Their 7 out of 8 in the West constituted the most successful swing any Giant team has sponsored in upward of 10 years.

Idleness and the Cubs' 2-1 verdict over the Phillies conspired yesterday to unseat the New Yorkers from the National League's top-roost, but even that unwelcome event registered no more than a glancing blow on their self-esteem. They were frankly talking "pennant", as perhaps befitted a club that had lost only four of its last 16 games so far.

This Boston series may tell more about that, since a single game is the margin between the Cubs in first place and the Braves in third. The Giants have won just twice in six Boston games so far.

MEANWHILE, the confusing and unpredictable rival New York team, the Yankees, upset a Detroit apple-cart with a 5-0 victory last night over Hal Newhouser and his league-leading cast.

Every now and then, the Yankees seem to forget they've left their championship days back along the trail somewhere. With young Frank Shea featuring a four-hitter, last night was one of those times. It was the Tigers' second straight defeat, leaving them a one-game lead over the idle Red Sox.

The Cubs' victory over the Phillies gave the Bruins a .009 lead in the senior loop race. Doyle Lade, with ninth inning help from Emil Kish, won a mound duel from Alvin Jurisich. Each team had six hits.

Brooklyn tallied once in the tenth inning and snuffed out a Cardinal rally on a bullet peg by Carl Furillo to defeat Harry Brecheen, 4 to 3.

Boston and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

IN THE AMERICAN League, night games were the rule. The only day game scheduled—Cleveland-Boston—was postponed on account of rain.

The two "low" teams in the American League, the St. Louis Browns and the Washington Senators tangled at the nation's capital. Ol' Showboat Bobo Newsom scattered seven Brownie hits to gain the nod, 7 to 3, over Muddsy Ruel's cellar confined Missourians.

The Athletics put an abrupt end to a four game White Sox winning streak by rallying for five runs in the eighth to clip the Pale Hose, 5 to 2.

TOLEDO'S WREN IN HERO ROLE; BIRDS DEFEATED

By International News Service
Second Baseman Bobby Wren was a hero in Toledo today and a villain in the eyes of Louisville and Kansas City American Association teams.

Wren socked a bases-full home run in the ninth inning to snatch a 6-to-4 verdict for the Mud Hens over Louisville last night. His blow climaxed a five-run rally at the expense of the Colonels' Al Widmar and Otis Clark.

The Blues had a half game short from their association lead by virtue of the Wren clout and an even split they achieved in a double header with last place Minneapolis.

Kansas City pushed over the winning run in the last inning of an abbreviated seven inning opener to triumph, 5 to 4. The nightcap was called after eight rounds to allow the teams to catch a train with Minneapolis leading, 9 to 4.

In other games, Milwaukee blasted St. Paul, 9 to 6, and Indianapolis topped Columbus, 4 to 2.

SOFTBALL TWIN BILL SET FOR THURSDAY NIGHT

Thursday morning's bright sun brought hopes for another Night Softball league session. The diamond at Ted Lewis park was reported in fair shape and sunshine most of the day is expected to put it in good playing condition by 7 p. m.

At that time Williamsport and Contarion will meet with Blue Ribbon and Tarlton tangling at 8 p. m.

Wednesday night's double-header of Drake's Produce and Tarlton, Mumaw's Market and Isaly's was washed out and the games will be played at a later date.

Friday, if rain does not start again, Esmeralda and Contarion play at 7, VFW and Richards at 8 p. m.

WORDS OF THE WISE

A man who owes a little can clear it off in a very little time, and, if he is a prudent man, will; whereas a man, who by long negligence, owes a great deal, despairs of ever being able to pay, and therefore never looks into his accounts at all. —(Chatterfield)

TOWN JOINS IN JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM, HOLIDAY

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., May 22—Upper Sandusky was returning gradually to normalcy today after a large segment of the population engaged in an all-night "binge" conceived and sponsored by, of all people, School Superintendent Charles E. Davis.

The occasion was the high school's junior-senior prom and the aim was to furnish a local outlet for pent-up adolescent energies and thus dissuade the youngsters from wandering all over northern Ohio after the dance.

The Davis-planned program went like this:

9 p. m. to midnight—the prom. Midnight to 3 a. m. — buffet supper and special movie preview at theater for high school juniors and seniors.

3 a. m. to 6 a. m. — parents join students for visits to open houses in and around Upper Sandusky.

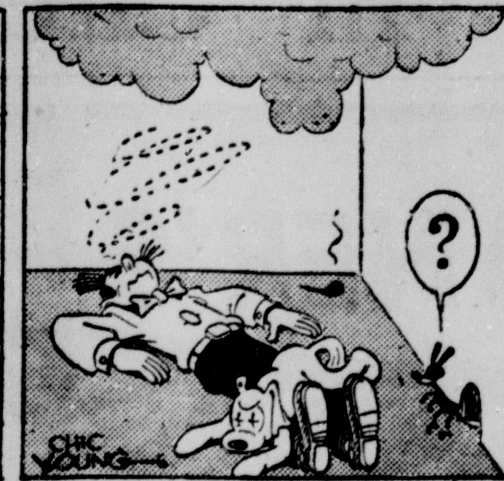

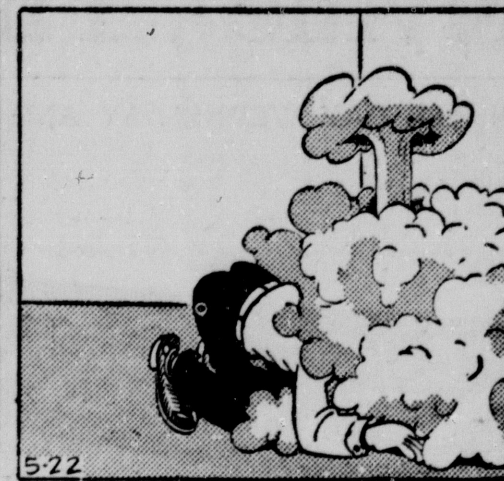

6 a. m.—breakfast

Davis' planning didn't stop there either. Knowing that regular classes under such conditions would be impractical, he gave students and teachers half a day off. Many of the town's merchants joined in the half-holiday—the all-night celebrating was tough on them, too.

SEARCH FOR A 4-4 FIT

IF A PLAYER is going to have any special tendency in the bidding, probably the most profitable would be one which makes him search primarily for a major suit fit of four cards opposite four cards. With a medium amount of strength, such a contract will produce game more often than any other effort, especially if either of the partners has a doubleton or singleton which renders possible the use of one or more trumps for ruffing. Prejudice in favor of such a contract will pay out better in the long run than the favoritism which so many players show to No Trump game tries.

The average declarer would never take more than eight tricks in that contract after a club lead—two in spades, three in hearts, two in diamonds and one in clubs. This one, a fine cardsman, had a terrific job to pull it through by means of a squeeze. He won the second club, scored the heart A and Q, then decided to try to squeeze East between spades and diamonds. To get his timing, he led the spade 6 and let the 8 win it, discarded on two more clubs, then won the diamond J return with the A. He took in the spade K, then led the heart 7 to the K.

That pinched East. The dummy still retained the diamond K-8 and heart 3, and the closed hand the spade A-10 and diamond 9. East, with the spade 7-7, could not toss one of those without promoting the 10, so he discarded from his diamond Q-6. Then the spade A, diamond 9 to the K and diamond 8 took the last three tricks.

If North had bid 2-Hearts instead of 2-No Trumps on his second turn, South would have raised to 4-Hearts, an easy contract in which anyone could lose only one trick each in hearts, clubs and diamonds to get a game worth 20 points more than the extremely difficult 3-No Trumps.

legal minds, but Hoagy was more a two-four man himself anyhow. He roamed the alley with a copy of Blackstone tucked under his arm in the forepockets of which "was scribbled a tune he labeled 'Stardust'."

New York turned a chill Atlantic wind on him and sent him shivering back to Indiana. The next stop was Hollywood and all this time "Stardust" and Blackstone were getting moldy to gether.

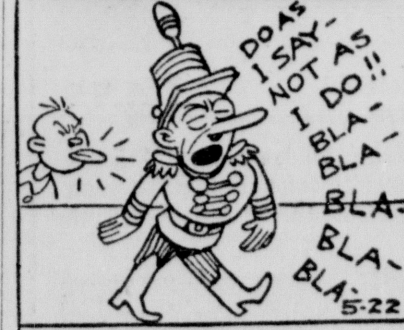

Let's see, this story picks up speed in 1929 after Hoagy had stormed Hollywood only to find Hollywood was adverse to unseasonal storms. Back to New York he went with "a good natured kid who shared his upper berth with me. His name was Bing Crosby."

I guess the story can sorta come to an end here. Isham Jones recorded "Stardust" and well, you know, it got to be quite a popular ditty.

"Stardust" was penned back in the twenties when Hoagy was proudly displaying his LL.B. on a shingle in Palm Beach, Fla. Every lawyer, except H. Carmichael, was making money.

NEW YORK, May 22—Hollywood is a place where you walk down the street and a pretty young miss smiles sweetly at you, thinking maybe you are a bigshot in the movies. Hollywood is also a place where you reach for the last bar of soap on the grocery shelf and a big glamorous star beats you by the chip on your fingernails.

Hollywood has the strange distinction of also being the place where a producer leans back in his swivel chair, props his feet up on the desk and listens to a fellow singing songs over the telephone. The singer is a chap named Hoagland Howard Carmichael; most folks call him Hoagy even though they don't know him; it's a nickname he acquired as a kid in Bloomington, Ind.

Well, that's the way Hoagy ambles through the production of his Sunday radio program. No hustle-bustle of writers chomping over his hayseed talk, no arrangers banging out hot and blue notes, no producers standing pontifically with stop watch in hand clocking every eighth note and every lazy vowel.

COLUMBUS MAN LOSES $10,000 IN OLD RACKET

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Police investigated the story today of Mike Leon, shoe shine shop operator, that two men had bilked him of $10,000.

Leon said one of the two strangers said he wished to donate $36,000 to worthy Columbus charities and offered Leon $3,000 for his help in the project. The man required Leon to deposit $10,000 as a sign of "good faith."

Leon placed his money in a metal box.

When the victim opened the box later, it was stuffed with old newspapers and his money was gone.

So were the charitable strangers.

May Says Mrs. Roosevelt Recommended Schwamm

WASHINGTON, May 22—Ex-Congressman May (D) Ky., testified today that a man he is said to have helped become an Army officer was really recommended for a commission by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The man he referred to was Harvey Schwamm New York who told the May-Garrison conspiracy trial jury earlier that May arranged a conference with Secretary of War Patterson for him in regard to a commission.

May was testifying for the fifth day in his own defense against charges that he received $53,000 in bribes for favors he did war contractors Henry and Murray Garrison while he was house military committee chairman.

MAY TESTIFIED he met Schwamm in Murray Garrison's apartment in a Washington hotel. He said Schwamm told him that "I have been granted a commission by the Army and it is being held up. I would like to see who I could talk to in the war department."

"I asked him who sponsored his application. He said it was originally taken up by Mrs. Roosevelt and Gen. Watson (Maj. Gen. Edwin C. Watson President Roosevelt's military aide at that time.)

"I asked if he then recommended him and he said they did."

May said he then called Patterson and arranged for Schwamm to see him that day.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The department of commerce says that ingredients from 36 countries now go into our hot dogs. The sand in the mustard is native.

But it illustrates clearly that world peace and frankfurts are brothers under the skin.

Let one delegate withdraw from the United Nations and in six weeks time you could taste the difference.

But what a stirring picture it makes—36 nations marching shoulder, pickle in the middle and security on top, one for all and all with mustard.

Anyway, Secretary Marshall says we won't know exactly how spend 400 million dollars in Greece and Turkey until we send people over to find out.

Truman Signs Balkan Aid Bill

PRESIDENT SAYS MEASURE STEP TOWARD PEACE

Chief Executive Declares Plan Offers Proof Of U. S. Cooperation

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 22—President Truman declared today that the $400,000,000 Greco-Turkish aid bill offers concrete evidence to the world that the United States will act to support its pledges to the United Nations.

The chief executive signed the measure supporting the "Truman doctrine" of aiding those nations threatened by communistic incursion. The signing took place in the President's hotel suite this morning.

He announced simultaneously that the United States ambassadors to Greece and Turkey have been instructed to open immediate negotiations with those governments to carry out the purposes of the aid measure.

Mr. Truman will announce his choice of an administrator probably tomorrow.

THE PRESIDENT said in a brief statement ready to correspondents accompanying him as he signed the measure:

"The act authorizing United States assistance to Greece and Turkey which I have just signed is an important step in the building of the peace.

"Its passage by overwhelming majorities in both houses of the congress is proof that the United States earnestly desires peace and is willing to make a vigorous effort to help create conditions of peace.

"The conditions of peace include among other things the ability of nations to maintain order and independence and to support themselves economically.

FIRST YEAR OF U. S. OPERATION OF MINES ENDS

WASHINGTON, May 22—The first year of government operation of the soft coal mines ended today with John L. Lewis and the bituminous operators continuing their negotiations for a new wage contract.

The negotiators maintained strict silence on progress of their talks as they prepared to resume discussions in Washington where they have been meeting since Tuesday.

The soft coal pits will be returned to private management on June 30 and the negotiations are aimed to drawing up a contract to cover private operation after that date.

Federal seizure of the bituminous mines was ordered on May 22, 1946 during a lengthy strike by Lewis' United Mine Workers. Since then, the pits have operated under the so-called Lewis-Krug agreement.

Although Lewis hasn't made public his new demands, he is expected to ask at least for the provisions of the UMW-government with the private operators. Lewis reportedly also is seeking a ten-cents-a-ton "royalty" on coal for the UMW's health and welfare fund and the same pay for eight hours work that the miners now are getting for nine hours.

Clark Says Youth Can Defeat Reds

CLEVELAND, May 22—U. S. Attorney General Tom C. Clark maintained today that the surest antidote to Communism and Fascism is "programs of youth by youth and for youth."

The attorney general in addressing the final meeting of the National Catholic welfare conference youth division last night in Cleveland asserted that the American Youth for Democracy was a Communist front controlled by the young Communist league. He added:

"But American youth for democracy made no inroads in any church-sponsored school Catholic or otherwise.

"The AYD dared not attempt to enter those colleges where truly positive American programs of dynamic action were sponsored by American youth.

"But where programs offer no hope of solving the individual youth problem but serve only as frothy time-killers it is not surprising that some youth turned to those false prophets."

Clark called for closer allegiance between parents and children and charged that "to a certain extent we have lost our leadership, understanding and contact of our children."

RUSSIA FACES DEFEAT IN UN

Soviet Proposal Restricting Inspection Group To Be Voted Down

By International News Service Soviet Russia faced defeat in the United Nations security council today on the Greek border dispute.

The eleven-nation group is due to arrive at a ruling today on the validity of its own inspection group now stationed in Salonika.

The decision will come in the form of a vote on the four-point proposal submitted by Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko. Its main design is to strip the group of its powers to function and shift its headquarters to Athens.

With the United States, Britain, China, Brazil and Australia already committed by their own declarations to oppose the Soviet proposal, the defeat of the Soviet move is certain.

IZVESTIA, organ of the Soviet government, published a two-thirds of a page comment on the speech of British Foreign Secretary Bevin before the house of commons last Thursday.

The commentary was captioned: "report does not correspond to reality."

The newspaper charged Bevin with presenting all events as reflected "in a crooked mirror."

In his own country, meanwhile, Bevin faced a leftwing attack at the labor party's annual conference at Margate Monday as a result of a party pamphlet (Continued on Page Two)

OHIO OFFICIALS TOLD TO REDUCE FUND REQUESTS

House Members Oppose Any But 'Must' Building; TB Bill Approved

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—State departments were told in effect by the house finance committee to cut their requests for post-war improvements by at least one-third or "force" the committee to make their cuts for them.

The committee held its first hearing on Governor Herbert's $1 1/2 million dollar additions and betterments bill with the members obviously backing Chairman Paul Baillard's stand that the additional appropriations would have to be cut to within the 54 millions available to guarantee a balanced budget.

As the bill now stands the highway department is asking about 35 millions and the welfare department and the six state universities asking about 19 1/2 millions each.

BALLARD RENEWED his stand that he would seek to freeze all expenditures except those actually in the emergency category or those items already under contract. He made it clear that he meant the unexpended 58 millions left from the 79 million dollar bill of two years ago as well as the additional items on the new bill.

"Now is not the time to build" Ballard repeated as his theme. "Building costs are up 100 per cent over two years ago. We should not compete for building materials and labor with people who want to build homes."

"I would stop this public building in its tracks," Ballard also warned the senate which now is considering the 585 million dollar general appropriations bill to "go easy" on adding any additional funds to that measure.

DE SEVERSKY IN BLAST ON U. S. DEFENSE PLANS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 22—Another major war would find America hog-tied strategically under present defense planning, Major Alexander P. de Seversky believes today.

In Montgomery to address the students of the air war college at Maxwell field, the author of "Victory Through Air Power" and famous consulting aviation engineer, warned that America is not putting first things first.

The major pointed to the expenditure of 40 per cent of the defense budget on the Navy as pure waste. He said:

"We won the last war despite the fact that we broke the greatest principle of war by trying to be strong everywhere, building the strongest Army, Navy and Air Force."

"But we were victorious because our enemies were limited in their natural resources, manpower and intellect."

"In the future, we may fight a nation exceeding us in natural resources and in manpower. In that case, most important things would have to come first."

"The Eurasian continent (Europe and Asia) is a self-contained continent. It cannot be blockaded and is therefore immune to blockade and naval action."

BANKERS TOLD RECESSION ON

'Soft Goods' Already Hit By Slackening Business, Professor States

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Ohio's bankers were told today that a business recession already has begun, but that its severity depends upon the problem of adjusting prices and demands.

Raymond Rogers, professor of banking at New York University, declared in an address at the 56th convention of the Ohio Bankers association in Columbus that the recession so far had hit primarily what he described as "soft goods," such as women's apparel, cosmetics, shoes, beverages, frozen foods and jewelry. He said:

"The recession is not yet fully apparent because business activity is still at a very high level. However, some soft goods industries have begun to feel the slackening demand and unemployment there is gradually increasing. It is encouraging to note that when retailers do put high quality goods on their counters with right prices, the merchandise is sold without difficulty. So demand exists, but at a price."

"Prices have outrun purchasing power and have to go down. The question is whether they (Continued on Page Two)

Death For 'Incurables' Is Proposed

LONDON, May 22—An 85-year-old British physician sought today to legalize the "right to die" of persons suffering great pain from an incurable disease by confessing:

"I am not ashamed to say I have taken the life of a patient."

Dr. Edwin Alfred Barton made his disclosure during an address before the annual meeting of the Voluntary Euthanasia Society.

He announced that plans have been made to reintroduce the society's bill for the legalization of euthanasia (the act of inducing death painlessly or as a relief from pain) into the house of lords.

The bill was before the house of lords in 1936 but was not given a second reading.

Dr. Percy Groves, chairman of the society, said promises of support for the bill have been received from a number of members of the house of lords.

BYRD SAYS GOP PLANS FAILING

Democrat Senator Warns Expenditures Could Exceed Budget

WASHINGTON, May 22—Sen. Byrd (D) Va., demanded postponement of action on the GOP tax reduction bill today and warned that the Republican congress may end up without saving a dime on President Truman's budget because of new commitments.

Byrd opened the second day of debate on the four billion dollar tax relief bill as the senate agreed to vote Monday at 4 p. m. on a Democratic motion to postpone action until June 10.

Byrd's speech developed sharp debate over failure of GOP-controlled house - senate conferees to agree upon a compromise cut in the 37 and one half billion dollar budget.

MINORITY Leader Barkley (D) Ky., said that unless the conference headed by Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., reached prompt agreement it should be "discharged" and new conferees appointed.

Byrd said he could not support the tax reductions on what he regards as the utterly fallacious theory that the "present inflated revenues will continue."

He gave the "optimistic pre- (Continued on Page Two)

URUGUAY, BRAZIL PRESIDENTS IN SPECIAL SESSION

ARTIGAS, URUGUAY, May 22—President Tomas Berreta of Uruguay and President Eurigo Gaspar Dutra of Brazil met in northern Uruguay today for discussions on inter-American hemisphere cooperation.

The meeting, marked by elaborate ceremonies, will be climaxed tonight when President Berreta crosses the international bridge into Brazil to return President Dutra's visit.

President Dutra was accompanied by the same entourage which went with him yesterday to a meeting with President Juan Peron of Argentina which marked the opening of a new international bridge between Brazil and Argentina.

POSSIBILITY OF SEVERE CROP LOSSES GROWS

Wheat Damaged, Corn Still Not Planted; River Out Of Banks Again

Three words were aptly used Thursday to describe the conditions menacing Pickaway county's farm crops. The words are "too much rain."

Hampered by excessive rainfall, by flood waters of swollen streams, unseasonal frosts, and tornado winds, the tillers of the soil and the owners of fruit orchards on the 2,085 farms in Pickaway county which comprise 253,762 tillable acres Thursday faced severe losses unless weather conditions improve.

Many farmers scanned the horizon, cheered by the beaming sun and rising temperature Thursday, and hoped for continued "fair and warmer." However, the official weather forecast, said clouds will gather Thursday night and that Friday will be "mostly cloudy followed by showers" and the Scioto river was flowing over its banks again.

Thus the prospect appeared slim for relief from the record-breaking rainfall during April and thus far in May.

PLOWING OF fields and the planting of crops in Pickaway county are far behind schedule. Farmers who already have lost their oats crops now face further losses in wheat and corn. However, Dewey Downs of the AAA office in Circleville was inclined to minimize the seriousness of the situation resulting from the over-saturated fields.

Although a lot of farmers plant their corn by May 10 and have thus far been unable to follow such a schedule, Downs asserted that the corn should not be planted before May 20 because of the corn borer danger. He added that June 1 is the deadline for corn planting and whether field conditions will permit corn planting before June 1 in Pickaway county is now a matter of conjecture with the outlook none too bright.

DOWNSAID that serious damage already has been caused to the wheat crop in the county. He said the total crop acres in the county is 310,488. A (Continued on Page Two)

$10,300 TAKEN FROM TOLEDO POST OFFICE

TOLEDO, O., May 22—The West Toledo branch of the U. S. post office was burglarized early today, with an estimated $10,300 in stamps, government notes and cash stolen.

The burglary was discovered by a post office clerk, Henry Gromek, when he opened the office for the day's business.

Police said the burglars gained entrance to the building by sliding down a coal chute. They ripped a hole in the post office safe with a crowbar.

Tear gas mechanism attached to the safe failed to go off, police reported.

In addition to the loot taken from the safe, the intruders ransacked the office and tore open a large quantity of registered mail in their search for money.

KENTUCKIAN TO BE NEW PHILIPPINE AMBASSADOR

KANSAS CITY, MO., May 22—President Truman will name Emmett O'Neal, Kentucky, as ambassador to the Philippine republic.

The nomination will go to the senate probably tomorrow. O'Neal is a former Democratic congressman from Kentucky.

The President announced his decision this morning through Press Secretary Charles G. Ross. O'Neal will succeed Paul V. McNutt as ambassador to the Philippines.

POSSIBILITY OF SEVERE CROP LOSSES GROWS

hot spell without rainfall, for any considerable period of time, Downs explained, would "crack" the wheat.

The farmers wrote off their oats crops weeks ago because of too much rain and too much cold.

With only about 30 per cent of the plowing done at this time the weather during the next 30 days will likely determine the "fate" of the county's 1947 corn crop. The final "safe" date to have corn in the ground is June 15.

The problem of getting enough labor to do the job in the event Pickaway county is visited by a hot spell of sufficient length to permit planting is another puzzle the harassed agriculturists will have to solve.

With farm wages skyrocketing those farm families which do not have several "farmhand-sons" to help out will be hard-pressed to gain enough labor to get the crops in the ground.

PICKAWAY COUNTY had a record rainfall of 7.54 inches in April. The record-breaking precipitation thus far in May, up until Thursday morning, totaled 3.46 inches. The April precipitation was the heaviest for a number of years. Charles Carter, Circleville weather observer who did the measuring, said that approximately six inches of rain fell in May, 1943, and that the figure may be exceeded in May, 1947.

The Scioto river stage at 8 a. m. Thursday was 11.55 feet, a rise of almost 4 and 1/2 feet during the preceding 24 hours. Carter predicted the level would reach 13 1/2 feet before it begins to recede — barring more heavy rainfall.

Lowlands along the Scioto have been partly inundated on four occasions during the past several weeks and hundreds of acres were partly under water Thursday.

Growing fruit and berries, although damaged by two severe frosts early in May have thus far Pickaway county.

THE CANNING industry in the Circleville district is being seriously affected in the canning of early crops.

Officials of canning companies said Thursday that only about 50 per cent of the normal pea crop was sown and that it is now too late to sow peas. This undoubtedly will make the crop critically short.

They said that there is an even worse outlook in the canning prospects for sweet corn, adding that whereas 50 per cent of the sweet corn should now be in the ground there actually is only about 5 per cent.

Canneries' officials joined in pronouncing the situation "very bad."

Similar conditions sorely hindering crop production prevail throughout many sections of Ohio and the U. S. Weather Bureau at Columbus in a bulletin issued Thursday emphasized the seriousness of the prolonged rains. At the same time Ohio State University agronomists indicated that not more than one-third of Ohio's corn ground has been plowed and very little of it has been planted.

The crop report of OSU experts aptly summarized the situation by quoting a farmer who declared: "Too much rain—even for wheat and grass."

PARIS, May 22—Bakers were attacked in bread riots in northern France today coincident with a warning by Premier Paul Ramadier that further demonstrations against government economic controls will bring arrest and severe punishment.

SECOND WIFE OF MICKEY ROONEY SUES FILM STAR

HOLLYWOOD, May 22—Betty Jane Rooney, second wife of screen star Mickey Rooney, today left it up to the courts to decide how much money she should receive for support of herself and their two children.

She declared in a suit for separate maintenance the actor "fraudulently" induced her to sign a $15,000-a-year property settlement which, Rooney said, represented nearly half his income.

Mrs. Rooney, who was "Miss Birmingham of 1944," said Rooney misrepresented his annual income. She charged the star is worth $350,000 per year, and not $36,000 as he asserted last January.

Mickey earns $250,000 a year at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and realizes an additional $100,000 from an enterprise known as "Mickey Rooney Inc.," the actor's wife stated in her suit.

Rooney married the beauty prize winner in September, 1944, when the actor was stationed at an Army camp near Birmingham. Their first child, Mickey Jr., is now 22 months old.

will be put down voluntarily or forced down by recession.

"In fact, the severity of the recession will be determined by the ease or difficulty of price adjustment.

"If labor will go to work, if management will start cutting costs instead of devising excuses for putting prices higher, and if government will cut costs and increase purchasing power by balancing the budget and reducing taxes, then this recession should be little more than a momentary hesitation. We still have the choice of the kind of recession, but time is running out on us."

When Ed's Crops Failed

Three years ago Ed Smith's luck went bad. His crops failed, and it wasn't long before Ed's home and furnishings were up for auction.

Half the town turned out, and Ed must have thought his neighbors were a bunch of hungry vultures—buying up all his precious possessions for a song.

When it was over, and the auctioneer had left, Sam Abernathy turns to the crowd and says: "All right, folks, let's take time out for a glass of beer, and then put this stuff back where it belongs!"

FIVE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH NEAR DAYTON

DAYTON, O., May 22—A C-97 Army plane crashed two miles from nearby Wright Field today, killing five men and seriously injuring two others.

A witness to the crash said the plane's left wing was tipping just before the crash. The plane plowed into a small hillside and burned.

The witness to the crash said two airmen parachuted from the plane but it was believed these were the two seriously injured.

Wright Field officials said the two injured were thrown clear of the wreckage, but other officials indicated the injured might have been two who attempted to parachute at too low an altitude.

PRESIDENT SAYS MEASURE STEP TOWARD PEACE

United Nations for the purpose of maintaining these conditions the United States is helping to further aims and purposes identical with those of the United Nations.

"Our aid in this instance is evidence not only that we pledge our support to the United Nations but that we act to support it.

"With the passage and signature of this act our ambassadors to Greece and Turkey are being instructed to enter into immediate negotiations for agreements which in accordance with the terms of the act will govern the application of our aid.

"We intend to make sure that the aid we extend will benefit all the peoples of Greece and Turkey not any particular group or faction."

The President read his statement in an adjoining room after signing the measure.

Afterward, he complimented the nation's press for the manner in which the news on progress of the act in congress had been handled.

The President declared the press had done a great service in informing the nation of the need of aid to small nations.

'PAT O'BRIEN' LEAVES GENEROUS 'TIP' HERE

Whether the $18 "tip" given to a waitress in Hanley's Tea Room, East Main street, came from Pat O'Brien or from a patron posing as the famous movie star, remained a matter of conjecture Thursday.

The generous "tip" was presented to an unnamed waitress Tuesday night by a convivial customer who proclaimed that he was Pat O'Brien but that he didn't "have his make-up on."

TORNADO HITS TOWN

BUCYRUS, O., May 22 — The village of Chaffee, ten miles north of Bucyrus or route 4, cleaned up today from a freak tornado that hit it yesterday afternoon. Trees were uprooted, roofs torn off and windows broken. No one was reported injured. No damage was reported outside the village.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OHIO OFFICIALS TOLD TO REDUCE FUND REQUESTS

shaping up as the senate taxation committee in a conference with Governor Herbert agreed to go along with the three major bills passed by the house. The other two bills in the over-all plan were subjected to floor action.

"The house passed 125-0 a bill providing a 3 1/2 million dollar subsidy to the counties for the next 18 months for tuberculosis care and the senate completed action on a house-approved measure refunding to the local governments the one-half-million-dollar share of the cigaret dealers' license fees now retained by the state. The senate vote was 31-0.

The tuberculosis fund would be distributed at the rate of $2.50 per patient-day for patients in public hospitals and $1.25 for patients in private hospitals. Rep. Arthur Fiske (R-Cuyahoga) author of the bill said that the state's economic loss because of the disease was some 50 million dollars a year.

A bill to provide for slum clearance was killed when the house taxation committee voted to indefinitely postpone further action on the measure.

LABOR TOOK A licking from the house industrial relations committee, which recommended for passage one bill drastically limiting union practices and a proposed constitutional amendment to ban the closed shop in Ohio.

The house passed, 90-21, a bill authorizing police to take blood tests of motorists accused of driving while intoxicated. It also completed passage, 125-0, of a senate-approved bill requiring co-ops to pay the same franchise and incorporation fees assessed against private corporations.

A bill authorizing the state education director to devise a plan for the consolidation of school districts to not more than four rural districts in a county was approved, 22-9, by the senate.

A fight appeared to be looming over the proposal to increase the pay of state highway patrolmen. The bill has been recommended for passage but stymied in the rules committee because of the opposition of one member. Unanimous action on the part of the rules committee is required to place a bill on the calendar.

FOREMEN STRIKE MAY CLOSE FORD PLANTS IN WEEK

DETROIT, May 22—The Ford Motor company conceded today that the strike of 3,800 foremen in three Detroit plants probably will choke off vehicle production nationally within a week.

The Foreman's Association of America, which called the strike in support of demands for exclusive bargaining rights for Ford supervisory employees as well as a contract, predicted that assembly lines will grind to a halt within four days.

The strike began at 10 a. m. yesterday and the foremen promptly set up picket lines around the plants involved at River Rouge, Highland Park and Lincoln Mercury.

CIO-UAW production workers were not barred, and they crossed the lines with authorization of their union.

BYRD SAYS GOP PLANS FAILING

"It is even possible and not impossible that without more rigid economy, our total expenditures for all purposes, domestic and foreign, in fiscal 1948, may equal or exceed 37 and one-half billion dollar expenditures estimated in the President's budget."

Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., senate finance chairman, said he was confident the congress would slash four and one-half billions from the budget, the senate estimate. Byrd said he was sorry he couldn't share Millikin's optimism.

SEN. CAPPER LIKES TREND TO FEWER FARMS

Kansas Solon States Most
Of U. S. Farms Are
Family Enterprises

TOPEKA, KANSAS — The trend toward fewer farms in the United States, with a larger acreage per individual farm is not bad for agriculture, because 98 per cent of our nearly 6 million farms are family enterprises,

es, according to Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas.
Family operated farms produce nearly 80 per cent of all farm products that are sold, as well as the food farmers eat, he writes.
"The number of farms has decreased from 6,096,799 in 1940 to 5,859,169 in 1945," he says. "This was a drop of 237,630. In that five years the average size farm went up from 174 to almost 196 acres."
Discussing how a family can work a bigger acreage these days, he adds:
"A family can operate more land because of power tools today. Each person can do more work, more efficiently and faster. New methods of crop and live-stock production, improved crop varieties, better animals, more favorable credit facilities, better transportation—all these help make it possible for a family to handle more land and enjoy a larger income."

Emphasizing that the family farm is the "spiritual citadel of democracy", Senator Capper says that such farms must be preserved and made secure. Family operators love freedom so much that they will fight to keep it. On family farms the American way of life is strongly entrenched.

Senator Capper recommends the following sixpoint program to safeguard the future of the family farm: 1-Encourage ownership; 2-Better the conditions of tenancy; 3-Persuade farmers to adopt a balanced farming system; 4-Continue and increase the valuable research work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the land grant colleges; 5-Promote greater mechanization of all farm labor; 6-Extend rural electrification.

IDLE RUSSIAN
MEN AND WOMEN
EAT SPARINGLY

Ration Of Almost Nothing
Granted; Clerks Forced
Into Factories

BY KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager,
International News Service
PARIS, May 22—Three boxes of matches and 400 grams of salt per month is all the Soviet ration system allows an able-bodied man or woman who dares to waste time by unemployment in Russia today.

No food rations are granted to any unemployed person over 18 years of age, unless such persons are ill, physically disabled, or the man is over 60 years old and the woman over 55.

If the unemployed person happens to have money saved up, he or she can purchase food on the so-called free market, but there sugar costs nearly $2 a pound and other commodities are similarly high priced.

PRIOR TO October last year, an unemployed person could receive a dependent's card, known as I-4. This entitled the holder to the following quantities of ration-store food per month:

Bread, 250 grams; grits, 1000 grams; meat and fish, 600 grams; fats 200 grams; sugar, 400 grams; salt, 400 grams; tea, 25 grams.

When the government started last fall a series of measures to reduce the nation's food consumption, the unemployed were the hardest hit. They were given a new "special dependents" card, known as IT-4. This is equivalent to almost nothing at all. In November it allowed the holder to purchase one kilo of grits, 400 grams of sugar, 400 grams of salt and three boxes of matches per month. In December, the sugar was completely eliminated, leaving only the grits, salt and matches. In January, the grits were eliminated.

The Soviet press asserts there is no unemployment in Russia today. The official policy of the government is to ignore it. Actually, there is a certain amount of unemployment in the big cities, especially Moscow, at the present time as a result of drastic measures taken this winter to reduce clerical and administrative staffs in all institutions and enterprises.

THERE HAVE been rumors current in Moscow, with some factual basis, that most institutions in the Soviet capital were ordered to reduce their staffs and white collar employees by 30 per cent, to freeze payrolls, abolish all vacancies and hire no additional personnel.

The purpose of this intensive economy campaign is believed by diplomatic observers to be aimed at inducing or forcing white collar and auxiliary employees into factories and workshops as part of the five year plan to rush the reconstruction and industrialization of the nation.

The unemployment that exists at present is due primarily to the reluctance of many clerical workers who have lost their jobs in consequence of the economy program to accept unskilled manual labor which is offered to them in the factories.

As long as their savings hold out, they can live off the free market, but eventually they are likely to be forced to become factory workers. And once they are classified as factory workers, or any other kind, they must have official permission before the classification can be changed.

You cannot hop freely from one type of work to another in Russia today. That is not the Soviet conception of democracy.

BOY KILLED AS TWISTER HURLS REFUGE 100 FEET

READING, Pa., May 22 — A freakish "twister" was responsible today for the death of a 13-year-old boy when a building in which he had taken refuge was hurled 100 feet.

The boy, Paul D. Kline, and his younger brother, Daniel, 10, went into the building, a frame structure on their father's farm, when a heavy rainstorm swept the area.

Daniel was carried into the air with his older brother but escaped with minor injuries when he was thrown clear of the structure as it began to fall.

GETTING RICH QUICK

THE SOMETHING for nothing spirit never dies. One sign is the revival of the old "Spanish prisoner" swindle. This starts with the receipt of a letter purporting to be from a prisoner in a Spanish jail, who has a large sum of money which his imprisonment prevents him from securing. Anyone who will send him the wherewithal to get out of jail can have this sum, which is much larger than the necessary investment. Needless to say, when any money is sent in response to this plea, nothing further is ever heard of money or applicant. The latest version of this hoary fraud transfers the scene of imprisonment to Mexico, but the principle remains the same.

Another recent example of this romantic idea of getting rich quickly is seen in the widespread rumor that a new car will be given away to anyone presenting a 1943 copper penny. This seems preposterous on the face of it. The catch is that to conserve valuable metal, no pennies of copper were coined in 1943, zinc being used instead.

People hoping to get rich by such easy methods should start digging up their back yards. They might find a gold mine there. The odds are no more against it than they are against getting wealth out of a Spanish prison or a new car for one cent.

WHICH KIND OF LIFE?

FROM experiments with rats at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., dieticians have decided that a diet can be followed which reduces degenerative diseases like cancer and thereby increases the life span. At least it worked that way with the rats. But here's the rub. Those long-lived rats developed dental troubles, whereas their brothers who ate anything had good teeth, but a shorter life span.

It's hard to get ahead of Old Lady Nature. She seems to have slyly stacked the cards against mankind. If she is generous along one line, she takes something else away. At least with those Cornell rats, could they have decided, the choice would have been for a toothless, food-restricted old age, or for good bicusps, good eating and a short life.

A lot of people are still complaining about this year's weather, but there are now places where you can hardly see any snow at all.

British women are campaigning to have old age pensions begin at 55 instead of 60. Breathes there the woman who will admit to being 55?

"This world was once a fluid haze of light," wrote the poet Tennyson, but now it's fluorescent and works better.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Rain. Rain. RAIN. Farmers learning to cuss in a nautical manner. Wondering when a truly modern manufacturer will turn out amphibian farm implements. Not that the land gears could be used much in Ohio this Spring. Chickens even taking up quacking. And motorists no more wasting the energy to turn off their windshield wipers.

So surprised I almost stopped for a hitch hiker. There he stood in broad daylight and dressed in a Tuxedo. Up near Ashville a farmer found a two-headed pig in a litter. Health good, too, for the two days it lived before the farmer killed it. And threw away several hundred dollars, probably. A real freak.

Looked in on the "granny" of George's herd and found her mighty proud of twin calves born during the night. Helped teach the little bull to move up to the lunch counter. High falutin animal parked in the corner of the stall and insisted that his food be brought to him. The girl much smarter. She knew where the food was and how to get it. Also inspected that cement-eating bull and found him somewhat improved with his temperature only 103 after having been up to 108. He was dead and didn't know it. Now, may live.

Noted the last of the boulevard light poles going up at Court and Main and stopped there to pass the time of day with Harry Hill and Carl Seitz. Chatted with Bill Murry, the retired plumber, who saved more money than he ever will be able to spend, but who did it mostly because he liked to work.

There goes Ed Wallace who probably works harder than any man of his years in the village. Never knows when to stop. Often think of one fishing trip with him up Michigan way and wonder when he will knock off for another vacation.

Met A. W. Bosworth and asked how things were going on the farm. Said his "hand" was teaching his son how to play cards when he headed for town. All the inside work done and very little of the outside work. Not so many years since the so-called "rain makers" were getting great publicity. How we could use a "rain stopper!"

To Cecil Noecker: If you don't stop in and pick up those railroad magazines right soon they are going into the paper baling. If the sun ever starts shining you will not have time to read them.

About the village briefly in the afternoon and still far from impressed with the wisdom of the Wednesday afternoon closing. But it must be wise, so many merchants lock their doors.

Tipped the news department that the old Groce packing plant has changed hands again and soon is to be occupied by an industry employing about 30 men and women. Bottled salads, I understand. Also learned that another factory site soon may be available in the village. Know of one good outfit that already is interested in the town. So, something may come of that.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 22 — The Republicans don't show it publicly yet, but certain of their congressional directors have become unduly scrupulous about pushing the tax reduction. Fiscal overseer John Taber, appropriations chairman of the house, has been working privately for more than a week on a scheme to hold the reduction bill in conference for several weeks after it passes the senate in order to see what happens statistically. Quite quietly he explored such a possibility on the senate side (meaning with Taft) and indirectly even with Treasury Undersecretary Wiggins. He found a situation which indicated this might be done although it had never been done before. Indeed this was the basic inside Republican strategy behind the Taft decision to push the bill up currently in the senate and to pass it promptly.

The Democrats must have scented what was afoot. They came forward immediately with their public program to delay senate consideration until June 10. By that time, they said, they would know how much the Republicans can cut from the Truman budget (actually they knew the Republicans would fall short on economies and thus expected they would embarrass or prevent the tax reduction by June 10.)

This is all rather clear political jockeying. The tax reduction would not be effective until next year (fiscal beginning July 1) and no one has a convincing idea of how much business will earn and pay in taxes, or how much national income or federal revenue will turn out to be more than 13 months hence.

Most Republican congressmen believe that as they promised a tax reduction they should enact one; their proposed average cut of one-fifth is mild; this will stimulate business which is uncertainly working its way through a period of dislocation; that the first quarter earnings reports indicate business will be much better and therefore will pay more taxes than supposed. Half-realistically the Democrats are trying to stall the Republicans by cooking up fearful reasons why the taxpayers should continue to pay terrific wartime rates, and let them spend the proceeds.

The Republicans would laugh off this challenge to their basic fiscal program were it not for one point. Actually—doubt this at your own peril—many Republican leaders privately suspect there may be such a depression as the old anti-Truman leftwing Democrats have been trying to advertise. Prices have already run so high as to encounter buyer resistance. Forecasts for the last half of this year and the first part of next do not by any means confirm that first quarter earnings will continue. (See the stock market figures which have tended downward toward new lows despite the earnings statements simultaneously being made public.)

The issue, therefore, is no longer clear cut. The Democrats have a thoroughly mixed statistical-estimating game going on in congress, causing many Republican leaders to worry, no matter what they may say publicly. This is the basic, accurate objective inside on the peculiar situation, the reason behind the queer developments.

A Painful Condition That The New Mother May Develop

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WE can realize our debt to penicillin only when we understand the great changes it has made in the treatment of many ailments, giving us a quick and reliable cure in place of treatments which were slow, painful and often uncertain. For instance, a new mother sometimes develops a condition known as acute mastitis or inflammation of the breast.

A Painful Condition
This is a most painful condition, making the breast red, tender and swollen. Fever—often high fever—adds to the mother's distress. Before the use of penicillin, there was nothing to be done but to wait for the infection to come to a head. This was encouraged by the use of heat. Then the breast was cut open and the infected material drained out. Since penicillin attacks the staphylococcus germs which usually cause this disorder, these things are no longer necessary.

Injections Given
Drs. Mary D. Taylor and Stanley Way of England used penicillin in treating 10 patients with acute mastitis. The penicillin was given by injection into a muscle every three hours. In addition to overcoming the infection, it is also necessary in the treatment to keep the breasts empty. They did this in most cases by allowing the baby to nurse. If the baby's nursing caused too much discomfort to the mother, they discontinued the nursing and gave a small dose of stilbestrol, a preparation which helps to decrease the breast milk supply for the time being. Breast feeding was continued in all cases except one, however, and in this case it was stopped only because the baby did not accompany her mother to the hospital.

None of the infants became infected as a result of the continued breast feeding. There was no recurrence of the infection after treatment.

Result of Treatment

As a result of this treatment all of the patients were cured within seven days and six of the ten within three days. In only one instance did pus formation develop and even in this case it was not necessary to cut open the breast. However, the infected material was drawn out using a needle and hypodermic syringe.

It would appear, then, that treatment of acute mastitis or breast infection with penicillin is easily carried out and brings about a prompt cure in practically all cases. Of course the earlier treatment is started and the more thoroughly it is employed, the better will be the results.

CHAPTER TWENTY

"MOVIE?" queried Mrs. Winston, alertly. "You've gone into the movies, Diane?"

"Only in an amateur way," Mrs. Arden explained. "With some of her friends out at the Old Colony."

"But we're getting very professional," Diane added. "Rufus Kent has the lead."

"Rufus Kent," echoed Mrs. Winston sharply. "Diane's lips twitched. Here was her bomb! 'Yes, Bill's college friend. You know, the one who came here to go on the Post, who writes those editorials. He's terribly clever and simply marvelous in our movie. I should know! He plays the part of my lover and—well, he's convincingly fatal!'"

Without looking at him, she knew Bill's eyes were hard on her. "Yes, this is what I've been doing while you've been working on your trial!" She looked at Page but Page was fastening the clasp of a bracelet, her bent face revealed nothing.

"How very original! An amateur movie, I mean," said Allie Matthevson. "Where will you show it, Diane?"

"Danny Carver's giving a party down on Gus Schultz' showboat. We'll run it off then."

"You don't mean you'll go—?" Satisfaction was in Mrs. Winston's voice as well as horror.

"Oh, we're wild to see the inside of it! And meet Gus!" Mrs. Arden rose from the table. "Shall we play some bridge? Bill, you and I will take on the girls."

Bill put up the tables. "One rubber, Mother," he said, as he sat down opposite his mother.

"Of course, you're tired." Was her sympathy only for his tiredness, Diane wondered, uneasy. For her defiance had spent itself; her anger had left her. She played stupidly, scarcely hearing Page's bids, reluctant to meet Page's glance, acutely aware of a soberness in Bill's manner that was not for the game. She was glad when the rubber was over, she rose as quickly as Bill from the table.

There was another round of congratulatory hand shaking with the goodbyes. Then they were in the car and driving away. Diane sat back in her corner, holding her breath, waiting for Bill to speak. Then she could say: "I'm sorry! I know I was silly and cheap!" Clasp, like Vicky, and she'd despised Vicky for it. "Something just sent me off, darling. It doesn't matter what—"

When his arms were around her she would tell him about the baby. But they were almost at the Chatham Arms before Bill spoke. And then coldly: "How many cocktails did you drink before dinner?"

Her voice was as cold. "You saw me!"

"I saw only the one you brought to the living room!" He stopped the car at their door. "You go on up. I'll take the car round."

She was undressing when he came in. Frightened, she dropped down on the edge of the bed, clutching the garment she had taken off. What would he say next? She didn't know.

He said from the living room: "Coming out here again?"

"No." She heard the click of the wall switch, his step across the dinette. He was in the room.

She stood up, desperately willing her knees not to double under her. "I'm sorry, Bill. But she could not say it while there was that closed look on Bill's face."

He pulled off his coat, took it to the closet, hung it there, turned. "Di, I take it you're going out to the club on your father's membership?"

Incredibly, that was in his mind, not Rufus!

"Family membership, isn't it?" "Not mine. I'd prefer you stayed away until I can afford to join it. You can find other amusements, can't you?"

She picked up a brush from the dressing table, drew it over her bright hair. "Why haven't you spoken of it before?"

"Because I was too deep in that trial to even know what you were doing," Bill retorted.

She had set the trap for him, but she was no less stung by his admission. She sat quite still, her fingers tight on the edge of the dressing table, repeating his words to herself, as if, together, they made something she must remember.

He came to her, put his hands on her shoulders. "Don't look like that, Di. I'm not asking a great deal of you, am I? You can't care much for that crowd you've been playing around with out there. To me they seem a fearful waste of time."

She did not answer. She let him think that that was the issue and that it was closed now. She tipped her face back to receive his kiss. But her lips felt stiff against his; the coldness was creeping up over her again.

Bill got into his pajamas. "I'm half asleep on my feet! But it's good to know I haven't a hard day ahead of me tomorrow!"

He fell asleep almost as soon as his head touched the pillow. Diane listened in a numb wonder to his regular breathing. After a little she raised on her elbow to stare, almost fearfully, at his dark head, outlined against the white of the bed linen. "I'm going to have his child and I don't really know him!"

"Are you too sleepy for a little talk, dear?" asked Mrs. Winston of Page when they arrived home from the Ardens.

Page shrank from it; she was too distraught in her mind to counter the triumph she saw in her mother's bearing. But to refuse would only postpone the moment, so she followed her mother into the living room.

Mrs. Winston put her gloves and bag on the table, sat down in a chair, a little forward in it, squared her plump shoulders. "Did you ever see such an exhibition as Diane made of herself tonight? I felt so sorry for Bill's mother. Though it ought to be for Bill, he has to live with her! Her boldness, in practically announcing before Bill and everyone, that she's starting an affair with that Rufus Kent!"

Diane had given Mrs. Winston a high trump, and she played it with satisfaction.

Page dropped her eyes to her tightly locked hands. She did not believe there was anything like that between Rufus and Diane, in spite of what Diane had said. Diane had wanted, for some reason of her own, to shock them there at the table, or hurt Bill.

And Rufus wasn't that kind. It would be loyal to deny it and at the moment she longed, desperately, to give Rufus, at least, loyalty. But she did not speak.

Her mother read an advantage in her silence. She went on in a voice silky with approval. "I am very grateful, Page, that you haven't permitted him to pay you serious attention! He's quite impossible! I knew it the first time I met him and now it's proven by what Diane admitted." She hesitated a moment, then finished: "Because Bill made a mistake is no reason you should—"

"Mother!" Page cried, choking, her face flaming.

Mrs. Winston moved to where Page sat on the divan, put her arm over the girl's shoulders. "Don't you think I know how you feel about Bill? Even before you did it's like that with mothers. I was so happy about it, I thought—"

Her hold tightened. "And when I knew it couldn't be, my heart ached for my sweet girl. I prayed for you, dear child, that you'd keep your head. And you have. Any other girl would have encouraged the first man she met!"

I suppose I knew it the first time when that Kent man began coming here so often. Though I might have known you'd see yourself that he is quite beneath you! I talked to him one evening, Page, when he was waiting for you to come downstairs. I asked him about his family. The most he can claim is a couple living on a farm somewhere in Massachusetts, an aunt and uncle. Ordinary farmers, he made quite definite. He grew up with them. But he may have told you—it struck me he was a little boastful of the fact!"

Page drew away from her mother's hold. "Yes, he's told me. You didn't need to ask him!"

"Your father and I certainly have the right to know, Page, with what sort of men you are going out!"

Page got to her feet, looked wildly toward the door. "I'm frightfully tired, Mother."

Mrs. Winston rose, too, kissed Page's cheek. "Yes, you're tired. Run along to bed, dear."

28 White Men Acquitted Of Charges They Lynched South Carolina Negro

GREENVILLE S. C., May 22.—Twenty-eight white men were free today of charges that they lynched 24-year-old Willie Earle, a Negro, near Greenville last Feb. 17.

Ninety-eight separate verdicts acquitting them were returned last night by an all-white, all-male jury.

There was no demonstration in the crowded courtroom as jury foreman Hugh Anderson began reading the verdicts.

Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr., had ordered that there be no vocal outburst when the decisions were announced, and he had directed 16 sheriff's deputies "to scatter all over this courtroom."

All 28 of the accused were acquitted on charges of being accessories before the fact, and conspiracy to murder.

Twenty-one of them were found innocent of charges of murder and being accessories after the fact.

Judge Martin instructed the jurors that they could not "under your oaths allow any so-called racial issues to enter into your deliberations."

The jury was composed of eight textile workers, one farmer, one ministerial student and two salesmen. Judge Martin had no comment on their verdicts.

The defendants were on trial nine days. The courtroom was jammed by spectators for each session. The balcony was crowded by Negroes until last night. When the verdicts were read only 13 Negroes were seen in the room.

Earle was being held in the Pickens county jail in connection with the slaying of a white taxi-driver when a mob took him from his cell at gun point and beat, stabbed and shot him to death.

GIANTS BACK IN EAST, SEEK LEAGUE LEAD

Chicago Takes First When Rain Washes Out Play At Cincinnati

NEW YORK, May 22—Having discovered the one thing able to stop them in the west, yesterday's rain in Cincinnati, the suddenly pennant-conscious Giants were back on the Atlantic seaboard today to face a fresh challenge.

It will come from the third-place Boston Braves in a four-game series, beginning tomorrow and ending with a Sunday double-header.

The Giants were a confident lot en route to Boston. Their 7 out of 8 in the West constituted the most successful swing any Giant team has sponsored in upward of 10 years.

Idleness and the Cubs' 2-1 verdict over the Phillies conspired yesterday to unseat the New Yorkers from the National League's top-roost, but even that unwelcome event registered no more than a glancing blow on their self-esteem. They were frankly talking "pennant", as perhaps befitted a club that had lost only four of its last 16 games so far.

This Boston series may tell more about that, since a single game is the margin between the Cubs in first place and the Braves in third. The Giants have won just twice in six Boston games so far.

MEANWHILE, the confusing and unpredictable rival New York team, the Yankees, upset a Detroit apple-cart with a 5-0 victory last night over Hal Newhouser and his league-leading cast.

Every now and then, the Yankees seem to forget they've left their championship days back along the trail somewhere. With young Frank Shea featuring a four-hitter, last night was one of those times. It was the Tigers' second straight defeat, leaving them a one-game lead over the idle Red Sox.

The Cubs' victory over the Phillies gave the Bruins a .009 lead in the senior loop race. Doyle Lade, with ninth inning help from Emil Kueh, won a mound duel from Alvin Jurisich. Each team had six hits.

Brooklyn tallied once in the tenth inning and snuffed out a Cardinal rally on a bullet peg by Carl Furillo to defeat Harry Brecheen, 4 to 3.

Boston and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

IN THE AMERICAN League, night games were the rule. The only day game scheduled—Cleveland-Boston—was postponed on account of rain.

The two "low" teams in the American League, the St. Louis Browns and the Washington Senators tangled at the nation's capital. Ol' Showboat Bobo Newsom scattered seven Brownie hits to gain the nod, 7 to 3, over Muddy Ruel's cellar confined Missourians.

The Athletics put an abrupt end to a four game White Sox winning streak by rallying for five runs in the eighth to clip the Pale Hose, 5 to 2.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, huddled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what an ox? As age advances the "old stomach" and the "ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh, fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

TOLEDO'S WREN IN HERO ROLE; BIRDS DEFEATED

By International News Service
Second Baseman Bobby Wren was a hero in Toledo today and a villain in the eyes of Louisville and Kansas City American Association teams.

Wren socked a bases-full home run in the ninth inning to snatch a 6-to-4 verdict for the Mud Hens over Louisville last night. His blow climaxed a five-run rally at the expense of the Colonels' Al Widmar and Otis Clark.

The Blues had a half game shorn from their association lead by virtue of the Wren clout and an even split they achieved in a double header with last place Minneapolis.

Kansas City pushed over the winning run in the last inning of an abbreviated seven inning opener to triumph, 5 to 4. The nightcap was called after eight rounds to allow the teams to catch a train with Minneapolis leading, 9 to 4.

In other games, Milwaukee blasted St. Paul, 9 to 6, and Indianapolis topped Columbus, 4 to 2.

SOFTBALL TWIN BILL SET FOR THURSDAY NIGHT

Thursday morning's bright sun brought hopes for another Night Softball league session. The diamond at Ted Lewis park was reported in fair shape and sunshine most of the day is expected to put it in good playing condition by 7 p. m.

At that time Williamsport and Container will meet with Blue Ribbon and Tarlton tangling at 8 p. m.

Wednesday night's double-header of Drake's Produce and Tarlton, Mumaw's Market and Isaly's was washed out and the games will be played at a later date.

Friday, if rain does not start again, Esmeralda and Container play at 7, VFW and Richards at 8 p. m.

WORDS OF THE WISE

A man who owes a little can clear it off in a very little time, and, if he is a prudent man, will; whereas a man, who by long negligence, owes a great deal, despairs of ever being able to pay, and therefore never looks into his accounts at all. —(Chatterfield)

SEARCH FOR A 4-4 FIT
IF A PLAYER is going to have any special tendency in the bidding, probably the most profitable would be one which makes him search primarily for a major suit fit of four cards opposite four cards. With a medium amount of strength, such a contract will produce game more often than any other effort, especially if either of the partners has a doubtless or singleton which renders possible the use of one or more trumps for ruffing. Prejudice in favor of such a contract will pan out better in the long run than the favoritism which so many players show to No Trump game tries.

The average declarer would never take more than eight tricks in that contract after a club lead — two in spades, three in hearts, two in diamonds and one in clubs. This one, a fine cardman, had a terrific job to pull it through by means of a squeeze. He won the second club, scored the heart A and Q, then decided to try to

NEW YORK, May 22—Hollywood is a place where you walk down the street and a pretty young miss smiles at you, thinking maybe you are a bigshot in the movie. Hollywood is also a place where you reach for the last bar of soap on the grocery shelf and a big glamorous star beats you by the chip on your fingernails.

Hollywood has the strange distinction of also being the place where a producer leans back in his swivel chair, props his feet up on the desk and listens to a fellow singing songs over the telephone. The singer is a chap named Hoagland Howard Carmichael; most folks call him Hoagy even though they don't know him; it's a nickname he acquired as a kid in Bloomington, Ind.

Well, that's the way Hoagy ambles through the production of his Sunday radio program. No hustle-bustle of writers chomping over his head seed talk, no arrangers banging out hot and blue notes, no producers standing pontifically with stop watch in hand clocking every eighth note and every lazy vowel.

THIS FELLOW Hoagy wrote a tune called "Stardust," maybe you've heard it. It starts "Some-times I wonder why I spend the lonely night dreaming of a song" . . . tum tum . . . etc.

"Stardust" was penned back in the twenties when Hoagy was proudly displaying his L.L.B. on a shingle in Palm Beach, Fla. Every lawyer, except H. Carmichael, was making money.

Tin pan alley didn't need any legal minds, but Hoagy was more a two-tour man himself anyhow. He roamed the alley with a copy of Blackstone tucked under his arm in the forepages of which was scribbled a tune he labeled "Stardust."

New York turned a chill Atlantic wind on him and sent him shivering back to Indiana. The next stop was Hollywood and all this time "Stardust" and Blackstone were getting moldy together.

Let's see, this story picks up speed in 1923 after Hoagy had stormed Hollywood only to find Hollywood was adverse to unseasonal storms. Back to New York he went with "a good natured kid who shared his upper berth with me. His name was Bing Crosby."

I guess the story can sorta come to an end here. Isham Jones recorded "Stardust" and well, you know, it got to be quite a popular ditty.

COLUMBUS MAN LOSES $10,000 IN OLD RACKET

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Police investigated the story today of Mike Leon, shoe shine shop operator, that two men had bilked him of $10,000.

Leon said one of the two strangers said he wished to donate $36,000 to worthy Columbus charities and offered Leon $3,000 for his help in the project. The man required Leon to deposit $10,000 as a sign of "good faith."

Leon placed his money in a metal box. When the victim opened the box later, it was stuffed with old newspapers and his money was gone.

So were the charitable strangers.
